

St. Louis Regional Suicide Prevention Coalition Membership Levels

The St. Louis Regional Suicide Prevention Coalition is run by volunteers and financed through generous donations of members and supporting organizations.

Although donations are welcome in any amount, these recommended donations are suggested amounts and are not required to participate and support the Coalition.

*Membership dues go toward the expenses of coalition efforts, events and resource development; costs can include honorariums for special presenters, subscriptions to online platforms for hosting events and website management, and other organizational costs to facilitate the coalition's community mission. Scholarships are available so that cost is not an obstacle to participation.
